To whom it may concern:

Susan Ellis and her Frolics Puppet Theatre has recently performed at the Bloor West Village Daycare. Susan was very friendly and at the same time professional with both the children and the daycare staff. She patiently answered all questions the children had about the initial set up of the show and the show itself.

Both parts of The Bug Show - about Catherine the caterpillar who turns into a butterfly and Anty the ant – are beautifully accompanied by word and/or music and make a great learning tool for toddlers and preschool children. Children were captivated by the puppets and the magic of the black show and loved the idea of making their own ant puppets after the show. Susan had brought all craft material with her and skilfully guided children to create their own “Anty”.

I would strongly recommend the Frolics Puppet Theatre to anyone, who is looking for entertainment of young children and I’m looking forward to the next puppet show.

Feel free to contact me, if you need more information.
